THE DAILY SUN

SUNDAY

BALTIMORE, JANUARY 1, 1906

To the Subscribers of
THE SUN,
with compliments of
A. S. ABELL COMPANY,
BALTIMORE, MD.

FROM THE PRESS OF THE SUN BOOK AND JOB PRINTING OFFICE, CALVERT AND SARATOGA STREETS.

THE SUN ALMANAC

The 31st number of this standard publication, issued for the year 1906, is devoted, as usual, in large part to matters of general public interest in Maryland. But in addition to this it comprehends affairs of world-wide interest. The statistics for the State of Maryland include full details of the Baltimore City Municipal Election of May, and of the important general election in the whole State in November. Most things pertaining to State and city governments, as well as of the national government, will be found carefully compiled and set forth in its pages.

The controlling idea in its preparation is to present, in a compact form, as much information of a general character as of local value, and to make it a useful book of reference in keeping with its established and recognized character as "The Blue Book of Maryland."

THE SUN ALMANAC is not sold, but given to all subscribers.

A. S. ABELL COMPANY.

By an act of the Congress of the United States, approved June 28, 1894, it was enacted that the first Monday of September in each year, being the day celebrated and known as Labor's Holiday, was made a legal public holiday, to all intents and purposes, in the same manner as Christmas, the First day of January, the Twenty-second day of February, the Thirtieth day of May and the Fourth of July are by law public holidays.

The Governor of Maryland, by virtue of the authority vested in him under Article 13, Section 9, of the Code, may declare and proclaim the first Monday in September a legal holiday, and recommend its observance by the general cessation of business.

DEFENDERS' DAY.

September 12, known as "Defenders' Day," is a municipal holiday in Baltimore City, in memory of the successful resistance of British invasion in 1814. Under Article 13, Section 9, of the Code, the Governor may declare September 12 a legal or bank holiday by proclamation, and recommend its observance as such throughout the State of Maryland.

REPUDIATION DAY.

The General Assembly of 1894 made November 23 a bank half-holiday in Frederick county, under the title of "Repudiation Day," in commemoration of the repudiation of the stamp act in 1765.

ARBOR AND BIRD DAY.

By resolution of the General Assembly of 1894, the Governor of Maryland is authorized to designate by proclamation one day in April every year for tree planting, to be known as "Arbor Day."

Governor Edwin Warfield in his proclamation designating Friday, April 15, 1904, as "Arbor Day," recommended that in addition to planting trees and shrubbery on the highways and schoolhouse grounds and elsewhere, the children of the public schools be taught to protect song birds and that so far as the schools were concerned the anniversary be made "Arbor and Bird Day." The proclamation, in its concluding sentence, declared "if our people will observe this day in the proper spirit, it will go far towards overcoming the evil effects resulting from the rapid destruction of the forests and birds of Maryland." In 1905, the day designated was April 14.

MARYLAND DAY.

March 25, the anniversary of the landing at St. Clements Island, now Blackstones Island, St. Mary's county, of the first settlers in Maryland, in the year 1634, is not a legal holiday, but is commemorated by special exercises in the public schools of the State.

The lunar year is the time required for the moon to travel around the earth twelve times. This is 354 days 8 hours 48 minutes long, and is the year of the Jews. It is 11 days shorter than the solar year. To make good this defect the Hebrews add a thirteenth month of 30 days every third year, but even then they are still three days behind solar time.

The solar year is the time in which the earth completes one journey around the sun. This is 365 days 5 hours 48 minutes 49 seconds long.

From the foregoing summary it appears that the population of Baltimore in 1900 was 508,957, or 74,518 more than in 1890, which represents an increase during the decade of 17.2 per cent. This is materially less both in number and per cent. than the increase for the preceding decade from 1880 to 1890; it is likewise a lower rate of increase than that for any preceding decade. The growth of the city has, however, from the first been in much greater ratio than that of the State, as appears from the fact that Baltimore had a population in 1790 of 13,503, while that of the State at the same census was more than twenty-three times as great; in 1900 nearly one-half of the population of the State was within the boundaries of the city.

The males of voting age in Baltimore in 1900 numbered 141,271. Of these 7.2 per cent. were illiterate. Native-born males of voting age numbered 111,181 and 6.3 per cent. illiterate. Foreign-born males of voting age numbered 30,090 and 10.4 per cent. of them illiterate. The negro males of voting age were 22,257 and 26.8 per cent. illiterate.

Maryland was one of the original thirteen States; its political subdivisions consist of 23 counties and the City of Baltimore. The population of the State in 1900 was more than three times as large as that given for 1790, the year in which the first United States census was taken.

In the year 1900 the total foreign-born population of Maryland was 93,934. The persons of foreign parentage numbered 272,321 white and 1,406 colored inhabitants.

The towns of Maryland are as a rule situated in healthy localities. Many of them are on tributaries of the Chesapeake. Manufacturing industries exist in most of them and the labor to be had is intelligent and contented. All the towns and cities are well supplied with schools, churches and other institutions, and they offer great inducements to settlers who have trades or to capital desirous of embarking in manufacturing enterprises.

THE ZODIAC.

The apparent path of the sun in the heavens is along an ecliptic, which is inclined 23° 27′ to the celestial equator. A belt 16° wide, 8° on each side of the ecliptic, within which are comprised the path of the moon and all of the planets known to the ancients, is known as the zodiac. This belt is divided into the twelve signs of the zodiac, each 30° in length. The first of these signs begins at the point when the sun's path crosses the equator (when moving north in the spring) and is known as the sign of Aries, and the point of crossing is known as the vernal or spring equinox. The point when the sun's path crosses the equator when returning south in the fall is known as the autumnal equinox, and is the beginning of the sign Libra.

The zodiacal signs and the times when the sun enters each are as follows:

Somerset county—Named for Lady Mary Somerset, daughter of the third Lord Baltimore.

Saint Mary's (river and county)—So named because the first landing in Maryland was made on the day of the Annunciation.

Talbot county—Probably named for Sir Robert Talbot, of Ireland, who married Grace, the daughter of Sir George Calvert, the first Lord Baltimore, though some authorities state that it was named for Sir William Talbot, son of Sir Robert and nephew of Cecilius, Lord Baltimore, who was appointed Chief Secretary of Maryland in 1669.

Wicomico county—Indian, named for the river Wicomico.

FLAG DAY.

June 14 is not a national or legal holiday, but the anniversary of the creation of the United States flag by the Continental Congress June 14, 1777. At the same time and in the same act of Congress Capt. Paul Jones was appointed to command the ship Ranger. He was the first to carry the flag into European waters and it went down on the Bonhomme Richard after he captured the British man-of-war Serapis.

The act of the Continental Congress creating the flag was as follows:

"Resolved, That the flag of the Thirteen United States of America be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the Union be thirteen stars in a blue field, representing a new constellation.

"Resolved, That Capt. Paul Jones be appointed to command the ship Ranger."

Paul Jones was accustomed to say "The flag and I are twins; born the same hour and from the same womb of destiny."

Paul Jones sailed under the Stars and Stripes from Portsmouth, N. H., November 1, 1777, in the Ranger for France. He carried despatches announcing the surrender of Burgoyne. He landed at Nantes December 2, thirty-two days out. The news he bore insured the Franco-American alliance and the ultimate surrender of the struggling colonies from British rule.

The story of the "unconquered and unstricken" flag which Jones carried on the Ranger and which went down with the Bonhomme Richard is told by Buell in his life of Paul Jones. According to this authority the flag was made by the girls of Portsmouth, N. H., from their best silk gowns and presented to the commander to hoist on the Ranger July 4, 1777. On relinquishing command of the Ranger in 1778 he kept his flag and used it at Lorient when he "broke his pennant," as the nautical phrase has it, to commission the Bonhomme Richard.

The flag was made by a "quilting party" according to specifications furnished by Jones. The stars in the "New Constellation" were cut from the bridal dress in which Helen Seavey was married in May, 1777, to a young officer of the New Hampshire line. This was the first edition of the Stars and Stripes that Europe ever saw; the first to be saluted by the guns of a European naval power; but far beyond that, and beyond anything, it was the first and the last flag that ever went down or ever will go down, flying on the ship that conquered and captured the ship that sunk her.

When Paul Jones returned in the Ariel to Philadelphia in 1781, he said that his most ardent desire was to bring that flag home to America, with all its glories, and give it back untarnished into the fair hands that had given it to him, nearly four years before. "But," he said to the lady to whom he was speaking—Miss Mary Langdon, one of the makers of the flag—"Miss Mary, I couldn't bear to strip it from the poor old ship in her last agony, nor could I deny to my dead on her decks, and who gave their lives to keep it flying, the glory to take it with them."

"You did exactly right, Commodore!" exclaimed Miss Langdon. "That flag is just where we wish it to be—flying at the bottom of the sea over the only ship that ever sunk in victory."

JOHN PAUL JONES' REMAINS.

John Paul Jones died in Paris July 18, 1792, at the age of 45 years. He was buried July 20, 1792, between 8 and 9 o'clock P. M., in the now abandoned Cemetery of St. Louis, in the northeastern section of Paris. About 500 bodies were interred there. His remains were incased in a leaden coffin well calculated to withstand the ravages of time.

The cemetery was about 210 feet long by 120 feet wide. Since its disuse as a burial place the soil was filled to a level and covered almost completely by buildings, most of them of an inferior class. Gen. Horace Porter, the American Ambassador in Paris, being satisfied that it was practicable to discover and identify the remains, after prolonged negotiations with the holders of the property and the tenants thereof secured from them option which gave him the right to dig in all parts of the property during the period of three months. These operations were conducted under the direction of a French engineer. The search proved successful. The leaden coffin was found, which on being opened was found to contain the remains in a wonderfully good state of preservation considering the length of time which had elapsed since burial. The measurements corresponded with those of John Paul Jones and other evidence convinced General Porter and others engaged in the search that the remains were those of the great sea fighter.

The body was found April 14, 1905. On the 5th of July it was transferred in Paris with imposing ceremonies, and on July 8 a squadron of modern warships bearing the remains to America sailed from Cherbourg. The squadron entered Chesapeake bay July 22 and on the 25th of the month the casket was deposited in a temporary vault in the Naval Academy grounds at Annapolis, awaiting the completion of a crypt in the chapel of the Academy, the formal official ceremonies being postponed till April 24, 1906.

POLICE APPOINTING POWER.

The General Assembly of Maryland in 1900 changed the method of appointing the three police commissioners for Baltimore City, which was, up to that time, made by the Legislature, for terms of six years, and vested the appointing power in the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The term of each commissioner was fixed at two years, beginning on the first Monday of May, 1900. The law requires that two of the commissioners shall always be adherents of the two leading political parties of the State—one from each of those parties. No restriction of this kind applies to the third member of the board. The oath of office requires that political considerations shall not influence the commissioners in appointing, promoting, reducing in rank or discharging any member of the police or detective force.

Three police examiners, also appointed by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, for two-year terms, were authorized, the selections to be made as in the case of the commissioners, one from each of the two leading parties in the State and one without such restriction. The examiners were required to make rules for carrying the law into effect. Their duties are to ascertain the qualifications, by competitive examination, of every candidate for appointment to or promotion in the police force, except the marshal of police, captain of detectives, counsel of the board and police surgeons. They are required to make up graded lists of the candidates examined by them. These lists are reported to the commissioners, who may accept or reject any or all the nominees, from time to time, but all appointments must be made from graded lists. The examinations must be open, public and practical competitive examinations. Church and party ties are not to be regarded in the selections, "so that the police department may be entirely out of the field of political and religious differences, controversies and influences." The oath of office of the examiners is to the same effect, in this particular, as that for the commissioners.

THE MAXIMUM BRIGHTNESS OF THE PLANETS.

The brightness of the planets depends upon their relative position to the earth and sun. Mercury is always so near the sun as to render it difficult to catch a glimpse of him. Venus is brightest when her elongation from the sun is about 40°. The brightness of Mars has a wide range. When this planet is in opposition and at the same time at its minimum distance from the earth, it rivals Jupiter and even Venus in brilliance, while at other times it scarcely displays the brightness of a 1st magnitude star. Jupiter and Saturn are of course brightest when in opposition. In course of the year 1906 Venus will be brightest on October 25th; Jupiter, December 28th; Saturn, September 4th.

ARMY CADETS.

Each Congressional District and Territory—the District of Columbia and also Porto Rico—is entitled to have one cadet in the United States Military Academy at West Point. Each State is also entitled to have two cadets from the State at large, and forty are allowed from the United States at large. The appointment from a Congressional District is made upon the recommendation of the Congressman from that District, and those from a State at large upon the recommendations of the Senators of the State. Similarly the appointment from a Territory is made upon the recommendation of the Delegate in Congress. Each person appointed must be an actual resident of the State, District or Territory from which the appointment is made.

The appointments from the United States at large, from the District of Columbia and from Porto Rico are made by the President of the United States upon his own selection. The appointment of the cadet from Porto Rico is made by the President upon the recommendation of the Resident Commissioner.

No candidate shall be admitted who is under seventeen, or over twenty-two years of age, or who is deformed, or afflicted with any disease or infirmity which would render him unfit for the military service, or who has, at the time of presenting himself, any disorder of an infectious or immoral character. Candidates should not fall below five feet three inches in height.

No writing or printing is allowed on the address side of postal cards except the address.

Class 2. Nearly every newspaper and magazine published in the United States belongs to the second class, and foreign publications which, if issued here, would be admitted to that class, may be mailed at the rate given above. Second-class matter must be so enveloped that it can be readily examined without destroying the wrappers. When mailed by publishers or news agents, the rate is 1 cent for each pound or fraction thereof.

Class 3. Single books may be sent at the third-class rate, even though they may exceed the 4-pound limit of weight.

The sender may write or print on a label, tag, envelope or wrapper of third-class matter, his own name, occupation and residence or business address, preceded by the word "from."

Class 4. There are specific regulations for packing merchandise and samples of goods sent as fourth-class matter. Proprietary articles, such as powders, pills, fancy soaps, may be sent in original packages, sealed. Seeds and other articles requiring to be specially protected may be put in sealed envelopes if the envelopes are transparent enough to permit the nature of the contents to be ascertained. Admissible liquids, oils, pastes, salves, ointments, fresh fruits and vegetables liable to decomposition, etc., may be sent under specified regulations.

PROHIBITED MATTER.

The following articles are unmailable under any circumstances: Liquids, ardent, vinous, spiritous or malt, or those liable to explosion or spontaneous combustion; inflammable oils, poisons, explosives; animals, alive or dead (stuffed natural specimens excepted); explosive or poisonous powders, matches, insects (except queen bees and their attendant bees and dried insects when safely secured), substances exhaling an offensive odor; all articles not properly packed which are liable to destroy, deface or damage other mail matter, or to harm the person of anyone in the postal service; obscene and indecent books, prints, writings or papers; all letters upon envelopes of which, or postal cards upon which, indecent scurrilous or defamatory delineations or language are written or printed; all matter concerning lotteries, so-called gift concerts, or other similar enterprises offering prizes, or concerning schemes devised or intended to defraud the public, or for the purpose of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Snow Hill, in Worcester county, was laid out in 1686 and was called from the old suburb of London of the same name, but spelled as one word—"Snowhill."

Royal Oak (village in Talbot county)—So named because of a nearby oak into which the British shot a cannon ball in the War of 1812.

REVENUE CUTTER SERVICE.

The United States Revenue Cutter Service is a military arm of the Government attached to the Treasury Department. The Service was organized in 1790, and, there being at that time no Navy Department, it was placed under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, where it has remained ever since.

The duties of the Service are to assist vessels in distress, enforce the navigation and customs laws of the United States, protect the sealing industry in Alaska, enforce the laws relating to quarantine and perform many other duties for which its vessels are adapted.

The Service co-operates with the Navy when directed by the President and has taken an honorable part in every war in which the country has been engaged.

During the yellow fever epidemic on the Gulf Coast in 1905, the Revenue Cutter Service organized and carried out such an effective marine patrol, that for the first time in the history of yellow fever epidemics, not one case was traced to infection introduced by water.

There are in the Service 37 captains, 37 first lieutenants, 37 second lieutenants, 30 third lieutenants and cadets, 1 captain of engineers, 35 chief engineers, 36 assistant engineers, 1 constructor and 1 surgeon.

The officers of the Service rank by law with officers of the Army and Navy as follows:

Captains with majors in the Army and lieutenant-commanders in the Navy.

First lieutenants with captains in the Army and lieutenants in the Navy.

Second lieutenants with first lieutenants in the Army and lieutenants (junior grade) in the Navy.

Third lieutenants with second lieutenants in the Army and ensigns in the Navy.

Officers of the line are appointed from cadets graduated at the School of Instruction, which is located at Arundel Cove, South Baltimore, Md. The course of instruction is three years and embraces professional and academic subjects.

The practice ship Chase has been used for practical instruction, but will soon be replaced by the gunboat Bancroft, loaned by the Navy Department for this purpose.

Officers of the Engineer Corps are appointed by competitive examination from civil life.

MIDSHIPMEN IN THE NAVY.

The students of the Naval Academy are styled midshipmen.

Two midshipmen are allowed for each Senator, Representative and Delegate in Congress, two for the District of Columbia, and five each year from the United States at large. The appointments from the District of Columbia and five each year at large are made by the President.

One midshipman is allowed from Porto Rico, who must be a native of that island. The appointment is made by the President, on the recommendation of the Governor of Porto Rico.

The Congressional appointments are equitably distributed, so that in regular course each Senator, Representative and Delegate in Congress may appoint one midshipman during each Congress.

After June 30, 1913, each Senator, Representative and Delegate in Congress will be allowed to appoint but one midshipman.

The course for midshipmen is six years—four years at the Academy, when the succeeding appointment is made, and two years at sea, at the expiration of which time the examination for final graduation takes place.

Midshipmen who pass the examination for final graduation are appointed to fill vacancies in the lower grades of the line of the Navy and of the Marine Corps, in the order of merit as determined by the Academic Board of the Naval Academy.

All candidates must, at the time of their examination for admission, be between the ages of 16 and 20 years. A candidate is eligible for appointment on the day he becomes 16 and is ineligible on the day he becomes 20 years of age.

Examinations will be according to such regulations and at such stated times as the Secretary of the Navy may prescribe.

NAVAL APPRENTICES.

Boys between the ages of 17 and 18 years may, with the consent of their parents or guardians, be enlisted as apprentices to serve in the Navy of the United States until they shall arrive at the age of 21 years.

No minor under the age of 17 years, no insane or intoxicated person, and no deserter from the naval or military service of the United States can be enlisted.

Only such boys should be accepted for enlistment as can reasonably be expected to remain in the service. Once enlisted they must fulfill their terms of apprenticeship and cannot be discharged, except for physical disability, for inaptitude or for misconduct.

Parents and guardians are advised not to enlist boys having hereditary physical defects or chronic complaints; their discharge for physical disability is sure to follow.

This useful table shows at a glance the character of the country in the different sections of the State: the highlands of the western counties; the elevated plateau of central Maryland with its beautiful rolling country and wooded ridges and fertile valleys; the level lands of the Eastern Shore, together with the somewhat higher elevations of southern Maryland on the western side of the bay.

The highest elevation—3,700 feet—is on the Backbone Mountain of Garrett county. Next in order are the altitudes of Allegany and Washington counties; then Frederick and Montgomery. Carroll, Harford, Howard and Baltimore are in a section of rolling country, well elevated, with some localities ranging from 400 to 1,000 feet in altitude. In southern Maryland there are fairly good elevations in Anne Arundel, Prince George's, Calvert, Charles and St. Mary's. In the nine counties of the Eastern Shore there is a gradual falling off in the elevations from Cecil to Worcester.

HEALTH BOARD FUNCTIONS.

The State Board of Health has general supervision of sanitary matters in the State. It has the power of investigation into all causes of disease, and under certain conditions can make rules which, for the time being, have the force of law. The right to local self-government in sanitary matters is fully provided for in the public health laws, and the local unit is the county.

The county commissioners of the several counties are local boards of health, and are required to appoint a health officer, who must be a physician, and within his jurisdiction operates the laws upon vital statistics, nuisances, and infectious diseases. The county health officer has recourse for advice and assistance to the State Board of Health and to the chemical and bacteriological laboratories maintained by the State Board of Health. The State Board of Health cannot exercise any authority against the will of the local board of health except in regard to matters affecting more than one local sanitary jurisdiction, or upon proof that the safety of the locality is imperiled by neglect or incompetence of the local board.

County health officers are local registrars of vital statistics and must execute the provisions of the law which forbids the burial of a human body before a proper certificate of death has been filed and a permit to bury has been granted. For public convenience there are sub-registrars in each election district, whose duty is to receive certificates and issue permits. Wherever a physician was in attendance, the cause of death must be certified by the physician. Penalties are provided for neglect on the part of either physician or undertaker.

Physicians and midwives are required also to report births occurring under their care.

The certificates of birth and death thus coming into the hands of the local registrar are returned each month to the State Board of Health.

Physicians are required to notify the local health officer of each case of infectious disease coming under observation. The local health officer must in turn notify the school boards and must become responsible for restrictive measures, including isolation, disinfection, quarantine, vaccination, etc.

Practicing physicians throughout the State have recourse to the bacteriological laboratory of the State Board of Health for aid in the diagnosis of certain infectious diseases, as typhoid fever, tuberculosis, diphtheria and malaria. For this purpose mailing stations are established at convenient points, enabling physicians to transmit their specimens with speed and safety.

The State Board of Health has also power to inspect all articles of food and drink, to prevent the sale of unsound or diseased meats, to expose fraudulent or adulterated food materials, and to punish wilful violations of the food laws.

Chapter 412 of the Acts of 1904 requires the State Board of Health to keep a register of all persons affected with tuberculosis, the information being supplied by physicians and by the responsible officials of public institutions. The contents of the register are not open to inspection, nor may they be disclosed except to certain officials.

The same act makes it a misdemeanor to let for hire a house or apartment previously occupied by a consumptive before such a house or apartment has been properly disinfected by a board of health.

Chapter 399 of the Acts of 1904 authorizes the State Board of Health to furnish through physicians certain necessary articles and materials with definite instructions to each citizen of the State known to be suffering with consumption. These supplies are furnished by the State Board of Health to each local board of health, and these in turn supply the physicians. Each physician delivering such supplies, and giving detailed advice concerning the prevention of tuberculosis to an infected household, is entitled, on approval of his written report, to a fee of one dollar and a half.

BALTIMORE SCHOOL SYSTEM.

The School Commissioners of Baltimore City are appointed by the Mayor. The Mayor designates the president of the School Board. The term of the Commissioners is six years, and three of the nine will retire at the end of every two years.

The Board of School Commissioners appoints the City Superintendent of Public Instruction and Assistant Superintendents: also, one or more visitors to each school, the visitors to serve without pay.

The school teachers are selected by the Superintendent and his assistants, in accordance with the merit system and subject to confirmation by the School Board. The Commissioners appoint the faculty of the City College and the teachers of the Polytechnic Institute and the high schools, as well as various subordinate officers in the department.

Church and party ties shall not be regarded by the Mayor in making his selections, the intention being to keep the public schools entirely out of the field of political and religious differences. Ward lines are also abolished in making selections.

A Compulsory Education Act was passed by the General Assembly of 1902, which was limited in its operations to Baltimore City and Allegany county. The Act requires children between eight and twelve years of age to attend school. Attendance officers were authorized and appointed to enforce the law, and penalties are provided for violations.

THE SEWERAGE LOAN OF 1905.

Amount of the Sewerage Loan—$10,000,000.

Life of Loan—75 years.

Annual appropriation for Sinking Fund—$37,000.

Interest rate, 3½ per cent. ($350,000 annually on full amount of loan.)

Estimates of time required to build sewers—10 years.

The work is in charge of a commission of six, with the Mayor a member ex-officio in addition. Salary of chairman, $3,500 a year; other members, $1,500; secretary, $2,500.

The law requires that the commission shall be bi-partisan, 3 members to be from the minority party.

The Sewerage Enabling Act prohibits dumping crude sewage in the Chesapeake Bay and tributaries, and the commission decides the method of disposal.

The commission of 1905 superseded the commission appointed in 1893 which prepared plans for a general sewerage system.

Corporations using streets for gas mains, street car tracks, electrical subways, etc., must remove the same where they obstruct the sewer work and bear the expense.

Private drains or sewers which block or impede progress in the work must be removed by the city at the city's expense.

Private drains are to be acquired by the city where needed.

The city will make sewer connections up to the building line of each house.

Work on sewerage system will start on lower levels, in Burnt District and around the harbor.

All houses must be connected with sewers as soon as system is completed in any one section of city.

Commissioner of Health is empowered to force property-owners to make connections.

All sinks and privies must be filled up as soon as connection with the sewers is made.

All expenses after sewerage system is fully completed are estimated at $600,000 a year, including sinking fund and interest charges, maintenance, depreciation, etc.

Under enabling act money for sewerage expenses must be raised in the annual tax levy as money for other city expenses is raised.

This authority for sewerage rates is wanted only in case, at some future time, voters of city should decide that sewerage-rate plan of meeting expenses, in part or whole, is more desirable than the tax-levy plan.

THE ANNEX LOAN OF 1905.

Amount of the Annex loan, $2,000,000.
Life of loan, 50 years.
Annual appropriation for sinking fund, $17,600.
Interest rate, 3½ per cent. ($70,000 a year after all of loan is issued.)
Not more than $500,000 of stock to be issued in any one year.

Commissioners for Opening Streets have charge of expenditures, with authority to lay out, open, extend, widen, straighten, close, grade and pave any street in the Annex, and to establish building lines and width of sidewalks.
Toll roads will be eliminated from Annex.

PARK LOAN OF 1905.

Amount, $1,000,000. Life of loan, 50 years. Rate of interest, not more than 4 per cent.
Interest and sinking fund to be provided by appropriations in the annual ordinance of estimates out of the park receipts.
Proceeds will be expended equally under the supervision of the Park Board in the four sections of the city and suburbs as indicated by the intersection of Charles and Baltimore streets.
The money will be used for the extension of the present park system and for the development and improvement of land for park purposes as may be provided by ordinance.
This park development and extension will be in accordance with the illustrated plan which seeks to create boulevards and to improve the valley around Baltimore.

McDONOGH SCHOOL.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

President—German H. Hunt.
Vice-President and Secretary—Robert H. Smith.
Treasurer—Robt. K. Waring.
Julian LeRoy White. R. Brent Keyser.
E. Stanley Gary. Dr. J. M. T. Finney.
Principal of the School—S. T. Moreland.

The qualifications of candidates for admission into this free school for boys, founded by John McDonogh, born in Baltimore, December 29, 1779, and died in New Orleans, October 26, 1850, are as follows:

1. They must be poor boys, of good character, of respectable associations in life, residents of the City of Baltimore.
2. They must be sound and healthy in mind and body.
3. They must be between 10 and 14 years of age.
4. They must pass a competitive examination.

Applications for admission should be made to German H. Hunt, President of the Board of Trustees, at any time of the year. Applications, however, are so numerous that admission is determined by competitive examinations held early in June at some convenient place in Baltimore, of which candidates are notified. The examinations are in simple arithmetic, reading, writing and elementary geography. The regular term at the school ends when the boy is 16 years of age, but the earning of a scholarship may enable him to continue there one year longer.

Students get military training, instruction in farm and shop work, shorthand and typewriting, in machinery, woodwork, typesetting and other industries.

The property of the foundation consists of 835 acres of land in a beautiful and healthy region, 12 miles northwest of Baltimore City, with commodious buildings; an endowment fund of $725,600 from John McDonogh invested in Baltimore City bonds; bequest of Dr. Zenus Barnum of $80,000 to promote mechanical instruction and manual training; bequest of Samuel H. Tagart of $175,000.

THE MIDNIGHT SUN.

One of the most interesting natural phenomena that present themselves to the traveler to the northern part of Norway or to Iceland or other places, which are crossed by the arctic circle, is the so-called "midnight sun." On the 21st of June, he will see the sun descend to the horizon, but instead of disappearing below the horizon, the sun will rise again. Thus, for one day there will be no sunset. The question is interesting, how high above the surface of the earth an observer at Baltimore would have to elevate himself in order to see a midnight sun. At the time of the summer solstice the required height would be 495 miles; and at the beginning of spring, 2341 miles.

MARYLAND DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM, 1905.

Adopted at Ford's Opera House, Baltimore, September 28.

Chairman—Dr. Joshua W. Hering.

"By common consent the only issue in this campaign is whether negro suffrage, put upon us against our will by force, shall be restricted and its power for evil destroyed. This Democratic convention, representing two-thirds of the white people of the State, reaffirms the declaration of our party in our platforms of 1899 and 1903 upon this subject, and now proclaims anew our resolute purpose to maintain the supremacy of our race and its control, by all lawful and constitutional means, of the administration of the political affairs of the State.

"Upon this question, distinctly presented in the campaign of 1903 as the paramount issue of that contest, we succeeded in obtaining three-fifths of the Senate and of the House of Delegates, and for the first time in many years found ourselves in a position to redeem our pledge to the people and obey their command by preparing and submitting for their adoption an amendment of our Constitution to cure the intolerable evil from which we have suffered so long.

"Our Democratic Legislature of 1904, clothed with this power and exclusively charged with this duty and responsibility, proceeded with care and deliberation to frame an amendment, which, while avoiding all conflict with the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments of the Constitution of the United States, will, if adopted, rescue us in Maryland from the blight of ignorant and debased negro suffrage.

"It will keep from our registration books the names of thousands of ignorant and venal negroes totally unfit to vote, and will thus go far to lessen the evils of absolute and unrestricted negro suffrage. It will give us the great and inestimable boon of intelligent manhood suffrage and secure to us the priceless benefit of the political supremacy of the white people of the State.

"And these ends will be accomplished righteously, honestly, by fair means; for with bi-partisan boards of registration, constant attendance of party watchers in the registration room and full right of appeal to the courts, provided and secured by law, which we pledge ourselves to maintain, arbitrary and unjust denial of registration to men, white or black, truly entitled to be registered, will be practically impossible.

"Believing, therefore, that the amendment will operate an effective remedy for the evils of our situation, without prejudice or injury to any race or class; regarding it, moreover, as a complete response to the clearly expressed mandate of the people, we unreservedly commend and approve it.

"We make it the single issue of this campaign.

"We declare it to be our battle-cry!

"The negro vote as it stands today is a perpetual menace to the prosperity and peace of Maryland, a menace to our very civilization, for it is ignorant, corrupt, the blind instrument of unscrupulous and selfish leaders. White voters divide upon measures of public policy. They keep alive the movements of patriotism which make popular government possible. The negro voters never divide. They remain a compact mass, under all circumstances, subject to the orders of their managers, asking no questions—a mere unthinking herd, to be delivered in the market place.

"With such a factor forever present in the equation of our political destinies—a factor potent enough to turn the scale, but always insensible to the promptings of true citizenship—what hope of honest and enlightened government is possible?

"The Democratic party, therefore, representing two-thirds of the white people of the State, now proposes an amendment to the Constitution of Maryland under the operation of which the evil in question will be greatly reduced. We do this not only in discharge of a solemn duty imposed upon us by the popular vote of 1902, but with the profound conviction that it will open the way to intelligent and clean politics by lodging the power in the honest, responsible and patriotic masses without reference to their party inclinations and affiliations.

"It is alleged, though without truth or justice, that the amendment contemplates the oppression of a class. As a matter of fact, it does nothing of the kind. We seek merely to set up a standard of citizenship whereby the obviously unfit may be excluded from the ballot box and to lift the franchise from the gutter into the realm of common decency. In the hands of the ignorant and depraved the ballot is a public peril. In the hands of the intelligent and the virtuous it is the safeguard of our hallowed institutions. The Democratic party of Maryland appeals to the whole electorate to defend the honor, the integrity and the peace of this proud Commonwealth.

"Nothing in the proposed amendment discriminates against any race or class. The poor as well as the rich, the humble as well as the mighty, the naturalized as well as the native-born citizens—all can exercise the privilege of sovereignty, and on perfectly equal terms, under the operation of this amendment. To say that it violates the organic law of the nation is to indulge in mere idle rant. Those who make the accusation know that it is intended only for the wigwam and the stump. They know that it would receive nothing but contempt and ridicule in the forum of the courts.

"The truth is that the law we advocate is more liberal and just and righteous than any of the laws that have been enacted anywhere for the purpose of protecting society and civilization as against corruption, anarchy and crime. It constitutes a bulwark for the State, for property, for order, for the fireside. That any man, at once honest and intelligent, can oppose it must ever be a mystery. It appeals to everyone who respects himself and at the same time considers the welfare of his neighbor.

"This is an intimate and personal question with all of us. The capitalist, the merchant, the wage-earner—these equally depend for their prosperity upon wise, orderly and virtuous methods of government. If the ballot be retained in the hands of the ignorant, degraded and criminal classes, whose home is safe? Whose livelihood assured?

"The Republicans set up the proposition that they will continue to employ these 53,000 ignorant, corrupt and irresponsible voters without injury to the Commonwealth, without injury to our civilization, without peril to society. We repudiate the claim as insincere, physically, morally and intellectually impossible; and we charge them with full knowledge of that fact. On the other hand, the Democratic party submits to the white people of Maryland a platform without technicalities or evasions, an issue clear-cut, non-partisan, a plea for good government, for the integrity of our institutions, for the protection of our families and the safety and honor of our firesides.

"We say again, therefore, that there is but one issue—the purification of the electorate. And as there is but one issue, so there can be but one appeal—to the conscience of honest and enlightened men.

"With this distinct declaration of our views upon the vital question which now alone engages the attention of the people, and with our hearty commendation of the admirable manner in which the business affairs of the State have been managed by the Governor, Comptroller and Treasurer, we enter upon this campaign confident that the people will again declare with renewed emphasis their resolute and unalterable purpose to maintain the supremacy of our race."

MARYLAND REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Held September 6, 1905, at the Lyceum Theatre, Baltimore.

Chairman—Charles J. Bonaparte.

Republican Platform of 1905.

"The Republicans of Maryland, in convention assembled, while realizing the fact that no national issues are involved in the present campaign in this State, except in so far as the attempt to adopt an un-American, un-Republican, un-Democratic and, thus far, unprecedented suffrage system in one State of the Union may affect the common sisterhood of the States of the country, cannot refrain from an expression of pride, nevertheless, in their identity with the party whose President stands for a 'square deal' for every American, wherever he was born and whatever his ancestry, and who, with the cordial acclaim of political friends and former political foes, and the approving voice of the civilized nations of the earth, has recently been hailed as the first citizen and foremost statesman of the world.

"They condemn the unfair, the unjust and the oppressive changes in the honest Election law of 1896, and appeal with confidence to the independent citizenship of our State, without regard to party affiliations, to bear testimony to the hurtful consequences of the successive departures from that law through the action of recent partisan Democratic Legislatures.

"They assert that the constitutional amendment soon to be submitted to the voters is but the culmination of a plot, long meditated and carefully planned, to make and keep Maryland under the control of the political party now dominant and as now organized, regardless of her people's wishes, and, at the same time, to insure to the men who make up the political organization now in power perpetual control of their own party, and through it of the State government—a control to be used in the future, as it has been in the past, for their own selfish ambition and fraudulent aims and purposes, without regard to the fair fame or vital interests of our State.

"They point out to every intelligent citizen, and especially to every business man, the folly of making Maryland a surely Democratic State for all time, regardless of the industrial conditions or financial issues that hereafter may be presented, as they have been presented before; and that at the very time when, through the unwisdom of the national policies of a misnamed Democracy, of a character akin to that and largely influenced by that which controls in our State, that party has dwindled to a hopeless minority in the councils of the nation; and they warn against the consequent peril to the State's prosperity and the development of her natural resources and opportunities by so unwise, so impolitic and so suicidal a course.

"They declare these evils, however, to be among the least of the many wherewith we are threatened by the so-called Poe amendment; and denounce that measure as false and mischievous in principle, that, from its nature, is intended to be one-sided, unfair and fraudulent in its administration, and as being fraught with the gravest danger to the liberties of our citizens and our right of Republican self-government.

"They invite particular attention to the fact that the so-called Poe amendment grants political privileges to one class of our citizens and denies them to another, because the grandfathers of the former did, and those of the latter did not, enjoy the like privileges.

"It establishes a doctrine of political rights by inheritance, that at once contravenes the principles of the democracy of Thomas Jefferson and the spirit of the Declaration of Independence; and after the election of a single year, it provides that all young men, of all colors and conditions alike, who seek admission to the exercise of manhood suffrage, shall be subject to the discrediting and degrading requirement that they shall submit themselves to an examination in constitutional law that shall be prescribed by and subject to the approval of a board of election officers of a character that experience has found to be quite frequently illiterate, and not infrequently corrupt.

"The purpose of the said amendment is to reinstate, with enlarged powers, the partisan boards of registration of the class that prevailed previous to the Election law of 1896, who again and again proved themselves indifferent to their duty and subservient to the political agencies through which their appointment was secured, and oftentimes guilty of such extent of criminal discharge of the functions of their office as would best subserve the interests of their political masters.

"It will empower these petty, partisan officers to decide arbitrarily who shall and who shall not enjoy the election franchise, without any appeal that can give substantial relief, if, indeed, there can be any appeal at all to the courts; it will thus enable the present Democratic political organization, and its successors in political power and machinery, to determine in advance of the vote approximately the number of persons who shall be registered, in order to enable it to carry every election district and voting precinct in the State.

"The said amendment, by a transparent and impudent pretense, professes to aim at protection against an 'ignorant suffrage,' yet it provides the power and the discretion to permit the most ignorant illiterates to vote if they shall give assurance that they will vote as those who administer the law shall require, and endangers the suffrage of the most enlightened citizen who desires to vote and who dares to give an intimation of his intention to vote as his judgment and conscience may dictate.

"The said amendment, while professedly aimed chiefly against what its sponsors pronounce as the evils of ignorant and corrupt negro suffrage, gives no hope that in its administration the ignorant negro will not be accorded as much consideration as the colored man who, by dint of enterprise and energy, may have acquired an elementary education, as well as that interest in government which comes from the acquisition of property. It gives no reasonable assurance that the corrupt negro, to whom political party principle is a stranger, may not be preferred to that element of the race who may be found, with honest loyalty and good faith, to profess allegiance to the party for the time being in opposition to that which appoints and controls the election officers.

"It affects the right of suffrage of many more white men than there are colored voters in the State; imperils the franchise of all citizens of foreign birth or parentage; imposes an insulting and unending restriction on all the young men of the generations to come, and by the power to prescribe precarious and oppressive requirements as to the evidence upon which the ancestral title to vote under the so-called 'grandfather clause' may depend, opens the way and provides the opportunity to jeopardize the right to vote of any or every citizen of our State.

"The proponents of this measure gravely pretend to fear an influx of negro population from the South, in case this amendment should be defeated, and yet the fact is, that under carpetbag constitutions, adopted in nearly all of the States of the South prior to the 1st of January, 1869, under which the negro had the right to vote and actually did vote in those States in the Congressional election of 1868, the whole colored population of that Southern section of our country, who shall, before the end of the next year, arrive at the age of 21, will be empowered, under this amendment, if they should migrate to the State of Maryland, to vote here after the required period of residence, without the educational test prescribed for our native colored population and without the educational test that will be prescribed for the young white population of this State after the end of the next calendar year.

"The Republicans of Maryland do not feel it incumbent upon them to make any reply to the partisan war cry and senseless sham and shibboleth of 'negro domination.' The Republican party of the State of Maryland favors no social equality among the races; favors no negro domination over the white people here or elsewhere, and can be depended upon to guard against the establishment of either of these conditions here in Maryland with equal safety and with greater sincerity than a partisan organization that wears the mantle and usurps the name of Democracy, as understood in its best and broadest sense in this land.

"The Republicans of Maryland point with confidence and pride to the wise and conservative administration of the late lamented Lloyd Lowndes, the four years of whose incumbency in office witnessed the enactment of such nonpartisan legislation of far-reaching utility as will constitute a sufficient answer for all men of common fairness and common sense to the silly, yearly outcry about 'negro domination' and social equality, and all of the attendant train of imaginary and fabricated evils that party expediency can conjure up to serve the exigencies of a desperate political organization.

"In recognition of the paramount and predominant character of the issue presented by this proposed amendment, and with a view to accentuating the importance thereof and concentrating the energies of our party toward a movement for the preservation of that right preservative of all others, and without which none other can be secure, the Republicans of Maryland refrain from any declaration upon ordinary measures and policies of administration in this campaign and with firm faith in the justice of the cause in which they, co-ordinately and in co-operation with allied and independent elements of our population who think alike with them on this question, call upon all good citizens, whatever their politics or their party, to aid in preventing the establishment of a condition which will rob Maryland of the essentials of self-government, endanger her progress and prosperity and discredit and disgrace her before the American people."

METHODS OF APPOINTING SUPERVISORS.

Three supervisors of elections are appointed for each county of Maryland and for the City of Baltimore every two years by the Governor, "by and with the advice and consent of the Senate," if in session, and if not in session then by the Governor alone.

Four names are required to be submitted to the Executive for each county and the City of Baltimore, by the State Central Committees representing each of the two leading political parties of the State, from each of which lists the Governor will select one person to be a supervisor for each party. In case all of the four persons first named by a party committee are deemed "unfit" by the Governor or "incompetent" for the position, he is empowered to file a written statement to that effect with the Secretary of State, and then call upon the committee for another list of six names. From these and the original list he shall make the appointment. The third supervisor he selects without restriction, except as to locality.

The pay of supervisors in Baltimore City is $1,500 a year for each, and in the counties from $100 to $150 a year. Each board of supervisors in the counties may have clerks, with the consent of the County Commissioners, who fix the pay. In Baltimore City a clerk at a salary of $2,000 a year and a messenger at $800 a year are authorized, with such other temporary assistance as the supervisors may consider necessary from time to time within the limits of $2,000 a year. The supervisors' office is in the Court House.

NEW GENERAL REGISTRATION.

Chapter 254 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland of 1904 contains the following: "In the counties a new general registration shall be made by each board of registry in the year 1906. * * * In the City of Baltimore there shall be a general registration in the year 1906 and biennially thereafter. Before the November election 1904 and 1905 and in the year 1907 and in every alternate year thereafter the last general registration shall be revised," etc. An earlier date had been fixed for the new general registration in the counties by the Act of 1896, but in view of the submission of the franchise amendment in 1905 it was deemed best to defer the general registration until after the people render their decision upon that measure, and it was not contingent upon either the adoption or rejection of that Amendment.

Chief Justices.

The list of Chief Justices of the Court of Appeals of Maryland since the date of its organization, in 1778, is as follows:

Benjamin Rumsey	1778—1806	John Carroll Le Grand	1851—1861
Jeremiah Townley Chase	1806—1824	Richard Johns Bowie	1861—1867
John Buchanan	1824—1844	James Lawrence Bartol	1867—1883
Stephenson Archer	1844—1848	Richard Henry Alvey	1883—1893
Thos. Beale Dorsey	1848—1851	John Mitchell Robinson	1893—1896
		James McSherry	1896—

The Court of Appeals as at first organized, in 1778, was composed of five judges, who did no circuit duty. In 1806 it was reorganized upon the plan which now prevails. This system was changed to an independent court in 1851, but it was found to be unsatisfactory, and the old method of the judges doing circuit duty was resumed in 1867.

THE JUDICIARY SYSTEM.

The judges of the courts in Maryland, except the Orphans' Court, are elected for 15 years. They are required to be not less than 30 years of age at the time of election, and are re-eligible until the age of 70 years, but not thereafter, though the Legislature, by joint resolution, may enable any judge already in office to fill out an unexpired term beyond the limit. The counties are grouped into seven circuits, and the City of Baltimore is designated as the eighth circuit. A chief judge and two associate judges are provided for each circuit in the counties. The chief judges of the county circuits and a judge specially elected in Baltimore City constitute the Court of Appeals. The Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, designates the member of the Court of Appeals who shall be the chief or presiding judge of that tribunal. A court is required to be held in each county of the State, to be styled the Circuit Court for the county in which it may be held. No two of the associate judges shall reside in the same county. Baltimore City, the eighth Judicial Circuit, is provided with a Supreme Bench—a chief and eight associate judges, in addition to one associate judge of the Court of Appeals. The total number of judges is 31.

The salaries of judges are as follows: Court of Appeals, $4,500; Associate of the Circuit Courts, $3,600; Supreme Bench, Baltimore City, $5,000, of which $4,500 is paid by the State and $500 by the City of Baltimore.

COURT FOR JUVENILES.

The General Assembly of 1902 passed an Act, Ch. 611, for the appointment by the Governor of an additional Justice of the Peace in Baltimore City, to be known as "The Magistrate for Juvenile Causes," who shall be a member of the bar of the city, and be paid $2,100 a year by the city. To this magistrate is committed "all cases of trial or commitment for trial, or of commitment to any reformatory or other institution, of all minors under 16 years of age, in all cases where jurisdiction thereof is given by law to any justice of the peace in Baltimore City." In commitments to reformatory institutions the wishes of parents and guardians are to have due consideration.

Probation officers, persons of either sex, appointed by the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City, and serving without pay, are charged with the duty of investigating cases of crime or incorrigible and vicious conduct. The probation officer is required to be present at the hearing of the case, to represent the interests of the child; to furnish the court with such information and assistance as may be required, and, in the discretion of the court, to have control and custody of the child before and after trial. The court either before trial, with the consent of the child or its parents or guardian, or after conviction, may, in its discretion, suspend further proceedings during the good behavior of the child, and place it in the care of any of the probation officers for such time and upon such conditions as may seem proper. The probation officer may bring such child before the court at any time during the period for which it was committed to his care.

Charles W. Heuisler, of the Bar of Baltimore City, is the Justice of the Peace for the Court of Juveniles.

The State Geological and Economic Survey is established for the purpose of examining the geological formations and mineral resources of the State of Maryland with special reference to their economic products and for the preparation of reports and maps illustrating the character and distribution of the same. The Survey maintains a Highway Division under special Acts of the General Assembly. It likewise carries on work in hydrography, forestry, terrestrial magnetism, and the mapping of the agricultural soils in co-operation with the National Government. One of the most interesting features of its work is the preparation and publication by counties of a topographic map of the State on the scale of 1 mile to 1 inch. The greatest work that it has in hand is the construction of macadamized county roads under a State Aid Highway Law passed by the General Assembly in 1904.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS DEFEATED NOVEMBER 7, 1905.

Two Amendments to the Constitution of Maryland, submitted to the popular vote, November 7, 1905, were defeated. One, known as Chapter 96, Acts of 1904, proposed to change the Suffrage Clause by amending Section 1, Article 1, of the Constitution; the other was to amend Section 34, Article 3, of the Constitution, and known as Chapter 97, Acts General Assembly, 1904, providing for the construction and maintenance of public roads and highways. Both amendments were passed by three-fifths vote of the two houses of the General Assembly.

Neither act was submitted to the Governor for his approval, the General Assembly contending that the three-fifths vote carried the acts to the people.

This question was decided in favor of the contention of the General Assembly by the Court of Appeals, March 23, 1905, Chief Judge James McSherry delivering the opinion of the Court. The suit praying for mandamus, in this case of the Suffrage Amendment, was instituted by Hon. Murray Vandiver, Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, against the Governor, Hon. Edwin Warfield.

"In pursuance of the provisions of Section 1 of Article 14 of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, and of the mandate of the Court of Appeals of the State of Maryland," the Governor, by proclamation, dated July 27, 1905, ordered the publication of both Amendments for submission to the popular vote November 7, 1905, and, as stated above, both failed of ratification.

The text of the two Amendments is as follows:

Suffrage Amendment.

Proposed as a Substitute for Section 1 of Article 1 of the Constitution of Maryland.

Section 1. All elections by the people shall be by ballot. Every male citizen of the United States, whether native born or naturalized, of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, who has resided in this State for one year and in the Legislative District of Baltimore City, or in the county in which he may offer to vote for six months next preceding the election, and who, moreover, is duly registered as a qualified voter, as provided in this Article, shall be entitled to vote in the ward or election district in which he resides at all elections hereafter to be held in this State; and in case any county or city shall be so divided as to form portions of different electoral districts for the election of Representatives in Congress, Senators, Delegates or other officers, then to entitle a person to vote for such officer, he must have been a resident of that part of the county or city which shall form a part of the electoral district in which he offers to vote for six months next preceding the election; but a person who shall have acquired a residence in such county or city, entitling him to vote at any such election, shall be entitled to vote in the election district from which he removed until he shall have acquired a residence in the part of the county or city to which he has removed. Every such male citizen of the United States having the above prescribed qualifications of age and residence shall be entitled to be registered so as to become a qualified voter if he be—

First—A person able to read any section of the Constitution of this State submitted to him by the officers of registration and to give a reasonable explanation of the same; or if unable to read such section is able to understand and give a reasonable explanation thereof when read to him by the registration officers; or

Second—A person who on the first day of January, 1869, or prior thereto, was entitled to vote under the laws of this State or of any other State of the United States wherein he then resided; or Third—Any male lineal descendant of such last mentioned person who may be twenty-one (21) years of age or over in the year 1906. No person not thus qualified by coming under some one of the above descriptions shall be entitled to be registered as a qualified voter, nor be entitled to vote.

Section 2. And be it further enacted, That the foregoing section hereby proposed as amendment to the Constitution of this State shall be at the next general election for members of the General Assembly to be held in this State submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof for their adoption or rejection in pursuance of the direction contained in Article XIV of the Constitution, and at said election the vote on said proposed amendment shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be written or printed the words, "For the Constitutional Amendment," or "Against the Constitutional Amendment" as the voters shall elect; and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote on said proposed amendment as directed by the said XIVth Article of the Constitution.

Roads Amendment.

Proposed as a substitute for Section 34 of Article 3 of the Maryland Constitution:

Section 34. No debt shall be hereafter contracted by the General Assembly unless such debt shall be authorized by a law providing for the collection of an annual tax or taxes sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to discharge the principal thereof within fifteen years from the time of contracting the same, and the taxes laid for this purpose shall not be repealed or applied to any other object until the said debt and interest thereon shall be fully discharged. The credit of the State shall not in any manner be given or loaned to, or in aid of any individual, association or corporation; nor shall the General Assembly have the power in any mode to involve the State in the construction of works of internal improvement, nor in granting any aid thereto which shall involve the faith or credit of the State; nor make any appropriation therefor, except in aid of the construction of works of internal improvement in the counties of St. Mary's, Charles and Calvert, which had no direct advantage from such works as have been heretofore aided by the State; and provided that such aid, advances or appropriations shall not exceed in the aggregate the sum of five hundred thousand dollars, and they shall not use or appropriate the proceeds of the internal improvement companies, or of the State tax now levied or which may hereafter be levied to pay off the public debt, to any other purpose until the interest and debt are fully paid, or the sinking fund shall be equal to the amount of the outstanding debt; but the General Assembly may, without laying a tax, borrow an amount never to exceed fifty thousand dollars to meet temporary deficiencies in the treasury, and may contract debts to any amount that may be necessary for the defense of the State.

But nothing in this section or in this Constitution contained shall deprive the General Assembly of the power to apportion amongst and to appropriate to the city of Baltimore and the several counties of the State out of any funds in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, a sum of money not exceeding four hundred thousand dollars each year, to be expended only in the construction and maintenance of public roads and highways under and in accordance with such regulations as the General Assembly may from time to time prescribe.

ELECTION RESULTS NOVEMBER 7, 1905.

The elections held in several States November 7, 1905, indicated a revolt against bossism. Massachusetts and Rhode Island chose Republican governors; Ohio and Virginia, Democratic governors; Pennsylvania elected a Democratic State treasurer for the first time in many years; in Maryland, the negro disfranchisement amendment to the State Constitution, championed by Senator Gorman, (Dem.), and opposed by Governor Warfield, (Dem.), and Senator Isidor Rayner, (Dem.), was decisively defeated; in New Jersey, the Republican candidates for the Legislature, including Everett Colby, were generally successful. In New York City, Mayor McClellan, (Dem.), is re-elected (on the face of the returns) by a small plurality over William R. Hearst (Municipal Ownership), who contested the election on the ground of fraud in the counting of votes; District Attorney Jerome (nominated by petition) was elected for a second term; Republicans won a majority in the Board of Aldermen. In Philadelphia, the City party, pledged to reform, elected its candidates. In Cincinnati, Edward J. Dempsey (Dem.) is elected mayor. In Cleveland, Mayor Tom. L. Johnson was re-elected by an increased plurality. In Toledo, Brand Whitlock, the candidate of the followers of the late Mayor Jones, was elected. In Chicago, the Republican candidates for minor offices were successful. In Salt Lake City, the candidate of the anti-Mormon, or American, party was elected mayor. In San Francisco, Mayor Schmitz (Union Labor) was re-elected.

Following are the names of the successful candidates in the four States in which elections for governor were held: Massachusetts....Curtis Guild (Rep.) Ohio.....John M. Pattison (Dem.) Rhode Island..George H. Utter (Rep.)* Virginia....Claude A. Swanson (Dem.)

*Re-elected.

MARYLAND INSTITUTE.

The Maryland Institute School of Art and Design was badly crippled by the great fire in Baltimore February 7-8, 1904, and the trustees made an appeal for help to Mr. Andrew Carnegie. Dr. Daniel C. Gilman was consulted, and on December 8, 1904, Mr. Carnegie wrote to him as follows:

"As I understand the situation, the total assets of the Maryland Institute are $263,000, i. e., insurance $70,000, endowment $18,000, contributions from the State $175,000. The City of Baltimore furnished the Institute with a site, and it seems reasonable to expect that it would not do less when the Institute is ready to rebuild. I presume that an amount equal to what it has now, say $263,000, would provide a suitable building, the site being given by the city. If this be arranged, it will give me great pleasure to furnish that sum, which would duplicate the assets for the erection of a building."

The announcement of the gift was made at the beginning of the year 1905.

On January 9, 1905, it was announced that the site for the building would be given by Mr. Michael Jenkins, president of the Safe Deposit and Trust Company of Baltimore, and his family. The gift was voluntary on the part of the donors, the tender having been made by Mr. Jenkins a few days before the public announcement was made.

The lot fronts 200 feet on Mount Royal and 250 feet on Lanvale street, and the corner stone of the building was laid with Masonic ceremonies November 22, 1905. The Night School of the Institute will occupy the upper floors of the new Centre Market building on the site of the old structure on Market Space, East Baltimore street, designs for which were accepted at the close of the year 1905.

PLANETS CAPTURE COMETS.

The great majority of comets appear unexpectedly, and after a few months of visibility draw away from the sun to be seen no more for centuries, if at all. Such were the great comets of 1858 and 1882, the latter of which was so bright as to be visible in full daylight.

But sometimes in its motion a comet approaches so near to one of the larger planets that the pull of this body on the comet alters the nature of its path and forces it to move around and around the sun just as the planets do. In this way the planets capture comets and add them to the solar system. At least 30 comets have been captured in this way.

Encke's celebrated comet moves about the sun in only three and one-third years, a period less than that of any known comet.

In the telescope it is a little, faint, round, woolly-looking object without any vestige of a tail, strikingly unlike the brilliant naked-eye comets which occasionally appear. It was first discovered on January 17, 1786, and has been observed at frequent intervals ever since.

THE STAR MEGREZ OR DELTA URSÆ MAJORIS.

The seven stars of the Dipper of the circumpolar constellation, Ursa Major or the Great Bear, of all constellations one of the most recognizable, are of the 2d. magnitude, with the exception of Delta or Megrez, which is of 4th magnitude only, although in the 17th century it was as bright as its neighbors. The most remarkable star in the Dipper of the Great Bear is Mizar or Zeta Ursæ Majoris, not alone because it has the little star Alcor near it, but also because it is itself double, being the first discovered spectroscoptic binary, by Prof. Edw. C. Pickering in 1889. This moderately bright star in the middle of the Dipper's handle has a mass exceeding that of the Sun forty-fold and the period of its invisible companion is 52 days.

INDEPENDENCE OF NORWAY.

One of the leading events of the year 1905 was the peaceable dissolution of the union of Norway and Sweden. May 27, King Oscar, of the United Kingdom, vetoed a bill for separate consular service desired by Norway. On June 7, Norway, through the Storthing, or Parliament, declared itself separated from Sweden, and King Oscar protested against the action, but no disturbance ensued in either country, though for a time Sweden declined to recognize the secession. June 10 the Union flag was lowered throughout Norway and the Norse tri-color was hoisted in its place.

Finally, on September 23, an agreement was reached by duly appointed commissioners, who settled the terms of peaceable dissolution. King Oscar was asked to nominate a King for Norway, but he declined.

November 12-13 Prince Charles, of Denmark, was elected King of Norway by a large majority of the popular vote, and on November 18 the Norwegian Parliament unanimously ratified the result of the popular election.

Prince Charles, of Denmark, is 33 years of age. His consort is Princess Maud Alexandra, daughter of King Edward VII, of England. The new King's title is Haakon VII, King of Norway; that of his consort is Queen Maud of Norway, and Princess of Great Britain and Ireland. The date of the coronation was fixed for January 1, 1906.

The momentous step of dissolving the union with Sweden was practically taken by the Norwegian Storthing on June 7, 1905, when it renounced the allegiance to King Oscar II, who had reigned over the two nations since September 18, 1872. Though King Oscar had acted strictly as a constitutional monarch within the limits of the Act of Union of 1814, the national independence movement had been gradually gaining strength since 1880, when the radical party came into power.

The chief ground of contention lay in the claim of the Norwegians to have a separate consular service, which should not be subject to the Foreign Minister of Sweden, but this was only the final trouble which brought to a head the permanent grievance of the Norwegians that their country's equality of independence, guaranteed under the Convention of Moss, in 1814, was not fully recognized by Sweden.

The Norwegian Storthing having declared that King Oscar had abdicated the throne by refusing his sanction to the consular law, the Swedish Government drew up a bill to arrange terms of separation. When the Swedish Parliament met a committee of the two houses refused the bill, but laid down as a basis that Norway should express its desire by a plebiscite. The Norwegian Government agreed to this and the vote was duly taken.

The history of the separation movement between Sweden and Norway dates to the year following an extraordinary Rigsdag, called in Sweden in the spring of 1815. It provided that three Norwegian Ministers, who are in attendance upon the King when he resides in Sweden, shall have the right to vote in the Swedish Council of State. Three members of the Swedish Council of State to have the same privileges when the subjects discussed pertain to both states.

From this time Norway is said to have been compelled to fight for her national rights and even her emblems. The differences between the countries were many. Swedish opposition to the appointment of a Governor became so hateful to the King that from 1829 to 1836 this office was administered by the Senior Councilor of State. The governorship question was bitterly fought for many years.

One of the causes for the desire in Sweden and Norway for separate consular systems was the fact that Sweden is protectionist and Norway is for free trade, and also because of Norway's more extensive sea trade and other divergencies of commercial interests.

END OF THE RUSSO-JAPANESE WAR.

The war between Russia and Japan for control in the Far East, which began February 6, 1904, was terminated by a treaty of peace, signed September 5, 1905, by plenipotentiaries of the two powers, at Portsmouth, N. H., where they had been invited by President Roosevelt to carry on the negotiations. The good offices of the President were urgently employed in behalf of peace, and at a critical turn in the negotiations he pointed a way finally to the amicable conclusions which were finally reached.

Briefly summarized the terms of the treaty of Portsmouth are as follows:

To Japan permanent control in Korea.

Both Russia and Japan to evacuate Manchuria simultaneously, except the Liau-Yang Peninsula, and to restore jurisdiction in Manchuria to China.

The lease of Port Arthur to be transferred by Russia to Japan by and with the consent of China.

That portion of the Manchurian Railroad and branches leading into Port Arthur to be transferred to Japan.

Sovereignty transferred to Japan of the southern portion of the Island of Sakhalin and adjacent islands.

Fishing rights conceded to Japanese subjects in the Seas of Japan, Okhotsk and Bering.

Prisoners of war to be reciprocally restored.

A crisis arose on the demand by Japan for war indemnity. Russia refused absolutely to concede this demand, and the negotiations were on the point of being terminated abruptly, when President Roosevelt intervened as peacemaker. Japan receded, and all the other points in controversy were mutually agreed to. Great credit was given to the President of the United States for his friendly mediation.

The ratification of the treaty was signed by both Emperors October 14.

The plenipotentiaries who concluded the treaty were as follows:

FOR JAPAN.

Baron Komura Jutaro Jusami, Grand Cordon of the Imperial Order of the Rising Sun, Minister of Foreign Affairs. His Excellency, Kogoro Takahira, Imperial Order of the Sacred Treasure, Minister to the United States.

FOR RUSSIA.

His Excellency, Serglus Witte, Secretary of State and President of the Committee of Ministers of the Empire of Russia. His Excellency, Baron Roman Rosen, Master of the Imperial Court of Russia, and Ambassador to the United States.

During the war the forces of Japan under Oyama, Nogi, Kuroki and Oku on land, and of Togo on the seas, won an uninterrupted series of victories. One of the greatest of these achievements on land and by sea combined was the siege and fall of Port Arthur, January 2, 1905. Another on the sea was the victory of Admiral Togo on the Russian fleet under Rojestvensky in the Korean Straits, May 27-28. With Port Arthur fell one of the strongest of modern fortifications. The destruction of the Russian fleet was the greatest naval engagement since that of Trafalgar.

Port Arthur was surrendered to the Japanese forces under General Nogi January 2, 1905. At 5 P. M. on New Year's Day a flag of truce from General Stoessel, commander of the garrison, appeared at the Japanese lines. The bearer had a letter from General Stoessel to General Nogi, the Japanese commander, proposing surrender, saying that he found "further resistance useless." General Nogi appointed a commissioner, who met a Russian representative at noon Monday, January 2, and the articles of capitulation were arranged.

Before deciding to surrender the only effective ships remaining of Russia's once superb Port Arthur fleet steamed out to escape. Four of them went to Chefu, where they disarmed and put themselves under the protection of China until the close of the war. The two others, accompanied by a transport, bearing 800 wounded men, took refuge at Tsingtau, in the German sphere of China.

At the beginning of the siege the Russian garrison numbered 35,000 men. Of these 11,000 were killed, 16,000 were classed as sick or wounded at the surrender, and 8,000 were left to man the forts, of whom 2,000 were unable to fight.

General Stoessel, in his reports to the Czar, stated that he had 10,000 men, "all sick," under arms at the finish and 14,000 were in the hospitals. It will be observed that the total is 24,000 for the survivors in each case.

For a month the men had lived solely on rice. Ammunition was gone. Scurvy made fearful ravages.

General Nogi then had more than 100,000 men, who were free to join Marshal Oyama, south of Mukden.

It was stated that during the siege the Japanese lost more than 50,000 soldiers. General Nogi reported that he found 35,000 persons in Port Arthur, of whom 25,000 were soldiers or sailors. The sick and wounded numbered 20,000. "Common provisions and bread were plentiful," he said, "but there was a scarcity of meat and vegetables. There were no medical supplies."

After an enormous sacrifice of life on both sides, the Japanese, March 10, captured Mukden and Fushan, taking many prisoners, great quantities of stores and a number of heavy guns from the Russians under General Kuropatkin, whose army kept on in retreat northwestward.

The Japanese estimated they took 40,000 Russian prisoners, including Major-General Nackhimoff; there were 26,500 Russian corpses on the field, and the other casualties to Kuropatkin's army numbered 60,000.

The Japanese General Oku took possession of Mukden March 11. The losses in three successive battles were summarized as follows:

Battles.	Russian.	Japanese.
Mukden	116,500	41,222
Liaoyang	16,000	17,000
Shakhe River	33,250	15,879

The trophies, guns, ammunition, provisions and other equipment captured were simply enormous. Finally the loss of Tai Pass by the Russians left them with no other stronghold in Southern Manchuria, and the effort of the enemy was then vigorously directed to the work of enveloping General Kuropatkin.

The following gives a summary of the fate that has overtaken a large number of Russian commanders both on land and sea, and the whereabouts of those who escaped:

The final blow, perhaps, was given to the Russian power in the East when on May 27-28 Admiral Togo defeated the Russian fleet under Rojestvensky in the Korean Straits. The Japanese admiral destroyed or captured all the Russian battleships opposed to him. Four of the cruisers escaped. Admiral Rojestvensky and Nebogatoff were taken prisoners. Admiral Voelkersam was killed and Admiral Enquist escaped, going to Manila. About 14,000 Russian sailors went down with their ships; 3,000 were taken prisoners and 1,000 escaped. The Japanese loss was three torpedo boats and about 800 men.

The peace movement was started by President Roosevelt June 10, leading to the final termination of hostilities by the treaty of Portsmouth, N. H.

Practically ever since the conclusion of peace Russia has had to deal with serious internal troubles which menace the sovereignty of the Czar and the safety of the throne. Sergius Witte, in recognition of his services during the peace negotiations, was made Prime Minister by the Czar in the expectation that he would be able to induce the nation to accept the moderate reforms offered by Nicholas II to his subjects. The agitation for radical concessions has not been abandoned, however. In parts of Russia anarchy has prevailed. The peasants in some provinces have murdered the landlords and laid waste their estates. There have been massacres of Jews at Odessa and other points, and conflicts between the troops and revolutionists. The postal and telegraphic services and the railroads have been paralyzed by general strikes. At present the situation is considered discouraging by the "Constitutionalists," who would be satisfied with moderate reforms. The extreme element among the revolutionists has counted upon assistance from the army, but there has been thus far no serious disaffection among the troops. The Russian Government is making vigorous efforts to suppress the revolutionists, and many have been killed in collisions with the troops.

ASSASSINATION OF GRAND DUKE SERGIUS.

The Grand Duke Sergius, uncle of Emperor Nicholas II, of Russia, was decapitated February 17, 1905, by a bomb thrown from a sleigh by two men as he was riding in his carriage through the Senate Square of Moscow.

Grand Duke Sergius left the smaller palace at the Kremlin at 3 o'clock in the afternoon to drive to his private Russian bath in the old official residence in Tverskaja street. He was in a closed carriage alone. This was the first time in several weeks he had ridden or driven out without the Grand Duchess, who remained behind in the Kremlin.

It is known that the Grand Duchess Elizabeth received an anonymous letter warning her not to drive out with her husband, as he would certainly be assassinated in the streets. The Grand Duchess apparently was unmoved by these threats. Only the fact that the Grand Duke went to the bath kept her indoors and so averted a tragedy even more horrible.

The Grand Duke's carriage was driven at a smart trot through the Senate square, which is flanked by the Arsenal and Law Courts. A sledge was standing in the tunnel which is formed by the tower of the Nicholas Gate, and in it were two men, one of them dressed as a workman. As the royal carriage approached, the sledge shot out and then drew back as if to allow the Grand Duke's equipage to pass.

Just as the carriage came alongside the sledge one of the men rose to his feet and hurled a bomb beneath the wheels of the passing vehicle. The explosion that followed it was heard all over Moscow. It shattered all the windows of the law courts 200 feet away. The carriage was blown to pieces, and the Grand Duke was killed instantly. The condition of the body was frightful, the head and limbs having been torn from the trunk and the clothing rent in tatters. The remains could scarcely be recognized as those of a man. The coachman was frightfully injured, but by some chance the horses were not touched. They dashed madly across the square and the coachman lay screaming on the ground. A policeman and a watchman, who were the only eye-witnesses of the assassination, stopped the horses and picked up the coachman. He was at his last gasp and died before he could be taken to the hospital. Officials, police and soldiers rushed up from all quarters. They at once closed the gates of the Kremlin, so that the murderers could not escape.

Two men were arrested, but whether they were the actual assassins was not clear. One of them is reported to have said:

"I don't care, I have done my work well."

It was stated that the assassins were students and that they were killed.

At the moment of the explosion the Grand Duchess Elizabeth was at the Kremlin superintending work for the wounded at the front, and was about to proceed to the residence of the Governor-General, expecting to meet her husband there. Her carriage was waiting outside the Kremlin.

The Grand Duke Sergius was very badly hated. His name was brought forward in a prominent manner in October, 1904, when he summoned before him at Moscow M. Morozoff, who as a manufacturer is the largest employer of labor in Russia, and peremptorily demanded that Morozoff contribute more largely to the war fund. This the manufacturer declared his willingness to do, provided he was represented on the committee of distribution. Sergius angrily demanded what he meant, whereupon Morozoff declared that he had already contributed about $500,000 worth of cloth, but had recently discovered the cloth was on sale in the Russian shops. Sergius gave Morozoff the alternative of apologizing for his blunt speaking or of accepting his passport. The manufacturer declined to apologize, but before the order of banishment could go into effect the matter was smoothed over.

FLOATING STEEL DRYDOCK "DEWEY."

During the year 1905 the largest and most valuable floating drydock in the world was completed by the Maryland Steel Company at Sparrows Point, on the Patapsco river at Baltimore, June 10, 1905. The huge steel structure was formally named the "Dewey," by Miss Maude Endicott, daughter of Rear-Admiral Endicott, Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, U. S. Navy.

The drydock was constructed for service at the Philippine Islands. It was towed from Baltimore to Solomon's Island, mouth of the Patuxent river, and subjected to severe governmental tests, accepted and prepared for the voyage to the Philippine Islands by the close of the year 1905, expecting to reach the Philippine Islands in May, 1906.

The contract price of this steel floating drydock was $1,124,000, with additional charges for changes and modification of details.

The contract time in which the steel company was to have finished the dock was 27 months. The first plate was laid on August 27, 1903.

With flush decks and no water in the compartments the dock will accommodate a vessel of 24,447 tons, although there are no warships of that tonnage in the navy. With decks flush and one foot of contained water it will accommodate 22,547 tons, and with two feet freeboard and one foot of water it will hold a vessel of 18,747 tons. The contract called for the accommodation of only 16,000 tons.

The Dewey drydock is not as long as the Algiers (La.) dock, which was also built for the navy by the Maryland Steel Company, but it is wider and deeper, and has a much greater capacity. It is 500 feet long, 100 feet wide between fenders, 134 feet wide over all, 18 feet 6 inches depth of bottom pontoon and 63 feet 8 inches high from bottom to top. The side walls are 14 feet wide.

One feature of the dock, and one which has never before been employed, is that it is built in three divisions. The utility of this is that it is able to dock itself, for, like all floating bodies, the bottoms become foul with sea growth and barnacles, and it is necessary for them to be kept clean.

One of the divisions, or sections, is longer and two are smaller. When the bottom of the larger section needs cleaning its compartments are pumped dry, thus raising it as far out of the water as possible. Then the two small sections are sunk and run under the big one. They are pumped out and the other section is raised out of the water.

The dock was built on shore. A deep pit, about 11 feet under the mean water line, was made, and a cofferdam was constructed to keep out the water. Piles were driven and the plates for the dock laid. When the time for launching came the cofferdam was taken away and the water allowed to flow in and float the great shell. This was successfully accomplished June 10, when Miss Endicott broke a bottle of wine over the structure and named it for the hero of Manila Bay.

Three 24-inch centrifugal pumps, the steam for which is furnished by three separate 225-horsepower Babcock & Wilcox boilers, will pump out or flood the dock. These pumps are controlled in the engine room. On the port side, forward, is the valve house, where there are 24 levers. The three sections of the dock are divided into 64 water-tight compartments, and each of these levers controls the flooding and pumping of several compartments. A telephone gives communication with the boiler room, and a pneumatic valve in the valve house announces the amount of water in the dock.

On the starboard side is a machine shop, the quarters for officers and crew, kitchen and bathrooms. The machine shop is forward. It is fitted with every appliance for minor repairs. On this side of the dock is the distilling apparatus, which has a capacity of 2,500 gallons of sea water distilled in a day. It will be used principally for feeding the boilers. Three tanks contain the distilled water. An electric light plant on the port side gives light for the entire structure.

Everything possible for the comfort of officers and crew was provided. Their quarters are on the starboard side. The officers occupy large and commodious staterooms, that of the dockmaster being large enough for an office as well as a sleeping apartment. Next to the row of officers' staterooms is their messroom. Between this and the one of the crew is the galley, which is fitted with a large range and with hot and cold water. It has, like the boiler and engine rooms, a cement floor. The pantry adjoins and next to it is the crew's messroom, and farther on, between their messroom and the machine shop, is the bunkroom of the crew. Accommodations are provided for 9 officers and 12 men.

The officers in command of the drydock are not commissioned officers of the United States Navy, but belong to one of the sub-departments.

The designer of this great machine was Mr. Gerhard Styrlander, chief draftsman of the Maryland Steel Company. He won in competition with six or seven sets of plans submitted by other concerns to the Bureau of Yards and Docks of the Navy Department. Mr. Styrlander was responsible, from the builders' side, for every bit of material that went into the construction of the dock.

PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION.

Succession to the Presidency of the United States in case of the death of both President and Vice-President is settled by law. This was provided for January 19, 1886, soon after the death of Vice-President Hendricks. Up to that time Congress would have been obliged to decide who should become Chief Executive should the President and Vice-President both become incapacitated. The main features of the law of the Presidential succession are as follows:

In case of removal, death, resignation or inability of both the President and Vice-President of the United States, Cabinet officers are in the line of succession in the following order:

1. Secretary of State.
2. Secretary of the Treasury.
3. Secretary of War.
4. Attorney-General.
5. Postmaster-General.
6. Secretary of the Navy.
7. Secretary of the Interior.

In this order they are to succeed and act as President until the disability of the President or Vice-President is removed, or a President shall be elected.

The law provides that, when one of the above Cabinet officers succeeds to the Presidency in the order named, he shall call a special session of Congress. A proviso limits the succession to those who would be eligible to the Presidency under the terms of the Constitution, and who have been appointed with the advice and consent of the Senate. The effect of the law is not to provide a succession to the Vice-Presidency, but merely to insure a succession to the Presidency.

GENERAL FITZHUGH LEE.

Brig-Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, United States Army, retired, and President of the Jamestown Exposition Company, died in Washington city, August 28, 1905, aged 69 years.

He was stricken with apoplexy at 2 o'clock in the morning while on a train en route from Boston to Washington. He insisted on being carried to the end of his journey. He reached Washington at 10 o'clock the same morning, and was removed to the Providence Hospital, where he died at 11.20 o'clock that night.

General Lee married Ellen Bernard, at Alexandria, Va., in 1871. They had five children—Ellen, Fitzhugh, George, Nannie and Virginia Lee. The two sons are in the army and two of the daughters married into the army. One of them, Miss Ellen Lee, was married in June, 1901, to Lieut. James Cooper Rhea, of the Seventh Cavalry. Miss Annie Fitzhugh Lee, another of the daughters, was on February 15, 1905, married at Norfolk to Lieut. Louis Brown, Jr., of the Seventh Cavalry. Miss Virginia Lee was with her mother in Georgia.

After the Civil War General Lee went back to his desolated farm in Stafford county, Virginia, and set doggedly to work, remaining there until the change of administration in 1885, when he reentered the public service and became Governor of Virginia. His chief literary work is a life of Gen. Robert E. Lee, the best of all biographies of the great Confederate commander, dedicated to the memory of the soldiers who "fought and fell under Robert E. Lee."

DR. THOS. J. BARNARDO, THE PHILANTHROPIST.

He rescued more than 50,000 children from vice and degradation, and he leaves more than 7,000 in his various homes. In those few words is told, in brief, the story of the life work of Dr. Thomas John Barnardo, who died in London, England, September 19, 1905. Under the charge of this one man was the largest family in the world, every member of which looked up to him as father, guide and friend. He left behind him nearly a hundred homes and hospitals, nurseries and orphanages, dormitories and lodging-houses, emigration depots and rescue branches, all of which testify not only to his success but to the widespread influence for betterment he exerted on hundreds and thousands of children and youths.

In his early life he had decided to become a missionary to China, but while preparing for this work an incident occurred that showed him how much more London stood in need of a missionary than did the land of the Orient. In his odd moments, while studying medicine in a hospital, that his missionary equipment might be the more complete, he taught a school for ragged urchins, and to that school one night came little Jim Jervis, a typical city arab, but a lad whom all biographers of Dr. Barnardo look upon as a messenger from God. Jim had no father, no mother, no home. Not only was Jim lacking in all these, but he knew of dozens of other London waifs just like himself, growing up in the streets, sleeping on vacant lots, in wagons or barrels, or under doorsteps; stealing that they might not starve, and no better off than the mongrel dogs that were their constant companions.

Through this waif Dr. Barnardo's eyes were opened to conditions of which he had never dreamed, and, abandoning all thoughts of China, he began his memorable work in the slums of London. That was in 1866, and his first refuge for the waifs, opened by himself and furnished by himself with the slender means at his command, could not hold more than a dozen of them. Year by year his field was enlarged, until, first, all London, then all England, then all the world learned what he was doing. With this knowledge and appreciation of his work came large gifts, not only to carry it on but to extend it.

SIR HENRY IRVING, THE ACTOR.

Sir Henry Irving, the English actor and author, died October 13, 1905, in Bradford, England. An actor of the highest standing and a man of exalted character, he did much to ennoble the dramatic profession. In recognition of his talent, culture and personal virtues, he was knighted in 1895, and received from the universities of Dublin and Cambridge the degree of doctor of letters and from the University of Glasgow the degree of doctor of laws. Born in 1838, he entered the dramatic profession in 1856, so that his career as an actor extended through nearly half a century. As an author he came before the public in 1893 in a work entitled "The Drama." He started in life as a clerk in London; he served a rigid apprenticeship to the stage, and his first engagement was at $2.50 a week. His first great success was as Hamlet.

He acted his first popular part—Digby Grant in "The Two Roses"—for 300 nights at the Vaudeville Theatre, London. It was to a house half empty that he introduced the most remarkable character of his life—Matthias in "The Bells." After that performance his salary was promptly raised from $75 a week to $175.

This drama has held the stage continuously for over 30 years. As played by Irving it was one of the most sensational productions of modern times. Yet, like many great stage successes, it was originally brought out with difficulty.

The death of the distinguished actor was entirely unexpected. He was engaged in a tour of the provinces, appearing nightly, and a few days before spoke at a public meeting in advocacy of the movement for a municipal theatre. He played as usual the night of October 13, and returned from the theatre at Bradford to his hotel, where he was seized with an attack of syncope, dying at 11.30 o'clock.

His last appearance was as "Becket" in Lord Tennyson's play of that name.

Captain—Edwin Geer, Headquarters, Baltimore.

Lieutenant-Commander and Executive Officer—F. H. Wagner.

EX-GOVERNOR LLOYD LOWNDES, OF MARYLAND.

Ex-Governor Lloyd Lowndes, of Maryland, died suddenly at his residence in Cumberland, Sunday morning, January 8, 1905, in the 60th year of his age.

He died after a tepid bath, and fell while being rubbed down by his valet, expiring instantaneously.

He had valvular affection of the heart and knew his condition. On Saturday evening he seemed to have a premonition of the fate impending.

Sunday morning he told his valet in the bathroom that he had passed a sleepless night.

One of his last acts before retiring was to write an obituary notice of a deceased friend to be published in the Cumberland newspaper he owned.

He was born at Clarksburg, W. Va., February 21, 1845. He graduated from the Pennsylvania University Law School in 1867. He settled in Cumberland, Md., where his father, also Lloyd Lowndes, was in business. He married his first cousin, Miss Elizabeth T. Lowndes, daughter of Richard T. Lowndes. He was 28 years of age when in 1872 he was elected to Congress over John Ritchie, his Democratic opponent, but in 1874 was defeated for re-election by William Walsh, Democrat.

On the 15th of August, 1895, he was nominated by the Republican State Convention at Cambridge for governor of Maryland, and after a memorable campaign defeated John E. Hurst, the Democratic nominee, by a plurality of 18,767. He was nominated at Baltimore, September 7, 1899, for a second term as governor, and was defeated by John Walter Smith, Democrat. Among the many acts of his administration was the approval by Governor Lowndes of the new Charter of the City of Baltimore. Before the session of the Legislature in 1898 it was pretty well understood that Governor Lowndes would be elected to the United States Senate to succeed Senator Gorman. But at the last moment he was dissuaded from making the contest mainly by the influence of some of his Independent Democratic supporters, and he retired in the interest of Hon. Louis E. McComas.

After he retired from Congress in 1874 he took but little hand in politics outside of Allegany county until the campaign of 1895. He was, however, a delegate to the National Republican Convention in 1880 which nominated Mr. Garfield, and was one of the National Commissioners of the World's Fair at Chicago.

While engaged in the practice of law he at the same time thoroughly identified himself with the larger business interests of Western Maryland.

He was president of the Second National Bank of Cumberland, the Union Mining Company, the Potomac Coal Company, vice-president of the Millville Mining Company and a director in the Frostburg Gas Light Company, the Black-Sheridan-Wilson Company, the New York Mining Company, the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Baltimore and the Cumberland and Elk Lick Coal Company. He was rated as one of the wealthiest men of the State.

Besides his financial and coal and milling interests he engaged in farming on his large estate in Allegany county, and was president for some years of the Allegany County Agricultural Society.

JOHN H. REAGAN, OF TEXAS.

Judge John H. Reagan, of Texas, the Postmaster-General of the Confederate States, and last survivor of the Cabinet of President Jefferson Davis, died at Palestine, Texas, March 6, 1905, aged 86 years.

Judge Reagan was born on October 8, 1818, in Sevier county, Tennessee, of poor parents. He worked in a tanyard as a boy, then on a farm, then operated a mill in order to get money to attend a college at Maryville, Tenn. In 1839 he went to Texas to sell goods, got into a war of the Republic of Texas with the Cherokees and other Indians, was a deputy surveyor of public lands for several years, and in 1814 became a pioneer of Kaufman county, where he had a farm, taught school, was a justice of the peace, a colonel of the militia, and read law. In 1847 he was elected to the Texas Legislature, in 1848 he began the practice of law, and in 1852 was chosen a circuit judge.

In 1857 he was elected to Congress, defeating the Know-Nothing (or American) candidate, who was the sitting member, by a large majority. In 1859 he was re-elected to Congress. Before this last election he had taken grounds against filibustering and the opening of the African slave trade. When the Civil War came he felt it his duty to follow the fortunes of his own State and people. He was chosen a member of what is known as the secession convention of Texas, in 1861. He was elected a member of the provisional congress of the Confederacy, and aided in the formation of the Confederate constitution. In March, 1861, he was appointed Postmaster-General of the Confederacy by President Davis. In February, 1862, after the adoption of the constitutional government by the seceded States, he was reappointed Postmaster-General, and served in that position until its fall in 1865. In the last months of the Confederacy Mr. Trenholm, Secretary of the Treasury, resigned on account of serious illness, and President Davis appointed Mr. Reagan Secretary of the Treasury ad interim, at the same time insisting on his continuing to perform the duties of Postmaster-General.

On May 10, 1865, he was made prisoner of war along with President Davis and taken first to Hampton Roads, Va., and then to Fort Warren, in Boston harbor, Mass., where he was detained until released by order of President Johnson in October, 1865.

While in confinement he wrote the people of Texas what is known as his "Fort Warren Letter," advising the people of Texas to accept without unreasonable delay the inevitable results of the war, so as to avoid military government and the danger of general negro suffrage. On his release from prison he retired to his farm near Palestine, Texas, hired some hands and went to work in the field with them.

After working on his farm until business became more settled, he returned to the practice of law, keeping up his farming interest. He had a lucrative practice until 1874, when he was elected to Congress. He had continued disfranchised under the reconstruction laws until a short time before his election. He was re-elected to the Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses. In 1887 he was elected to the United States Senate for the term of six years.

On June 10, 1891, he resigned his seat in the Senate of the United States to accept the chairmanship of the Railroad Commission of the State of Texas.

HON. JOHN HAY.

Hon. John Hay, Secretary of State of the United States, died at 12.25 A. M., July 1, 1905, in Newbury, New Hampshire, his summer residence. The immediate cause of death was pulmonary embolism, or the clotting of blood in the lungs and blocking up the air passages.

John Hay was born in Salem, Ind., October 8, 1838. He was graduated at Brown University, Rhode Island, in 1858, and studied law in Springfield, Ill.; was admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of Illinois in 1861, but soon went to Washington as Assistant Secretary to President Lincoln, remaining with him until his death.

He was also President Lincoln's Adjutant and Aide-de-Camp, served under Generals Hunter and Gillmore and was brevetted colonel. He was appointed Secretary of Legation to France March 22, 1865, and retired March 18, 1867. In 1867 he was appointed Secretary of Legation to Austria-Hungary, where he was Charge d'Affaires until August 12, 1868.

He was appointed Secretary of Legation to Spain June 28, 1869, and retired October 1, 1870.

As an editorial writer on the New York Tribune he was well known, remaining five years, during seven months of which he was editor-in-chief. He removed to Cleveland, Ohio, in 1875 and took an active part in the Presidential canvasses of 1876, 1880 and 1884. He was appointed Assistant Secretary of State November 1, 1879, but retired from the position May 3, 1881. In the same year he represented the United States at the International Sanitary Congress in Washington, of which he was president.

Mr. Hay was appointed Ambassador to Great Britain March 19, 1897, and retired on September 19, 1898, to become Secretary of State, which office he held when he died. He succeeded Judge William R. Day.

With this varied experience in public affairs at home and abroad Mr. Hay was exceptionally qualified for the important tasks which President McKinley committed to his charge, first, as Ambassador at London and later as Secretary of State and head of the Cabinet.

When President McKinley chose him for his Secretary of State it was not because of pressure; on the contrary, Mr. Hay shrank from the responsibility. Mr. McKinley turned to him because he believed him to be upright, capable, courageous and devoted to him as his chief without thought of any private end.

Some of Mr. Hay's notable diplomatic triumphs were the peace negotiations with Spain, the negotiations following the Boxer outbreak in China and his outlining the war zone in the Russo-Japanese war.

He has been called the greatest of American Secretaries of State, and by some the greatest living diplomatist.

In literature he attained a high place by his history of Lincoln and other works. His poetical and humorous works are of a high order.

His eulogy of President McKinley marked him as an orator of the first rank, and Congress passed a vote of thanks to him on that occasion.

His literary works included the following:

Poems 1871 and 1890; Castilian Days, 1871; Abraham Lincoln, a history, 10 vol., 1890 (in collaboration with John G. Nicolay.

JOSEPH JEFFERSON, THE ACTOR.

Mr. Joseph Jefferson, the foremost American actor, died April 23 at his home "The Reeds," Palm Beach, Fla., aged 76 years. He was a descendant of actors scarcely less distinguished than himself. His grandfather was Joseph Jefferson, who came to America from England toward the close of 1795. As a child of 7 years of age he played the Duke of York in the elder Booth's production of Richard III at the Holliday Street Theatre in Baltimore.

His great role of Rip Van Winkle was developed by himself from a crude play based on the story by Washington Irving. While he was better known to many thousands of people by this part than any other of his roles, he was equally great in many of the standard comedies which form so good and great a part of English literature.

Mr. Jefferson possessed a versatile genius; as a writer his autobiography possesses all the charm of style and humor characteristic of the best productions of Washington Irving; as a painter some of his productions entitle him to consideration as an artist.

In private life he was a genial and delightful companion; he was fond of fishing and out of door life, and among his most intimate friends he numbered none to whom he was more endeared than ex-President Grover Cleveland.

Events of His Life.

JULES VERNE, THE AUTHOR.

Jules Verne, the author, died at Amiens, France, March 24, 1905, of paralysis. He was born in 1828 in Nantes, France. His father was a solicitor and barrister, and he was to have been educated for the law. At the age of 12 he began to write what he called "dreadful poetry." Then he became interested in geography and read everything on modern travel on which he could lay his hands. Leaving Nantes he went to Paris.

At that time the works of Victor Hugo were being devoured by all Frenchmen. Verne fell under the influence and he afterward said he could recite whole pages of "Notre Dame de Paris." In the Quartier Latin where he resided he met Alexander Dumas, and the two became chums. They wrote together and collaborated in one or two unsuccessful works. Verne's first successes were short stories contributed to the Parisian newspapers.

He was 25 years old when his first long successful story was accepted. This was "Five Weeks in a Balloon." Verne had never been in a balloon at that time, but he had read much of the geography of Africa. His constructive imagination furnished the rest.

Among Verne's stories best known in America are:

"Adrift in the Pacific."
"The Archipelago on Fire."
"The Blockade Runners."
"Five Weeks in a Balloon."
"The Floating City."
"From the Earth to the Moon."
"Round the Moon."
"The Giant Raft; or, Eight Hundred Leagues on the Amazon."
"The Cryptogram."
"The Mysterious Island."
"North Against South."
"The Purchase of the North Pole."
"Round the World in Eighty Days."
"Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea."
"Tigers and Traitors."
"The Tribulations of a Chinaman."

M. Verne wrote many dramatic works which won instant popularity and favor wherever produced. Among these are the famous drama of the Russo-Turkestan campaign, "Michael Strogoff," "The Demon of Cawnpore" and other popular productions.
